9 week sessions begin
Sept 13 to Nov 8
Cost for the series is $120.00

"Design and color are what I enjoy teaching. I like showing the students how to work with the pictures they have chosen to paint"

The first day of class bring one whole sheet of Arches 140# cold press watercolor paper. cut up into ¼ sizes, I will have the subject. This is for beginners, but everyone can enjoy this exercise. If you are an intermediate painter, have a ½ sheet of paper with a painting all draw up, your choice of subject. I will also bring photos of different subjects to paint and demonstrate. We will have a few class projects which are a lot of fun and you will enjoy seeing all the different styles the students are forming. Bring your watercolor supplies. Additional materials may be purchased as needed. Student discount applies.

About Mari Anne

I have been involved in creating art since I was young. Having a father who was an Industrial Designer gave me a chance to experience different mediums and always hear about design and color. Little did I know that would be the direction I took in college, but with a little twist, I majored in Art Education. My major field was oil painting. Watercolor was my biggest challenge. After graduating from Western Michigan University I became a traveling art teacher. I never touched my oil paints again. Just for fun I took a watercolor painting class and it changed my direction to that medium and yes I too had my struggles with it. Now I have been teaching and painting for over 28 years and participating in many art shows around the West and have won numerous awards.
